

Nahar Poly Films

COMPANY OVERVIEW

Nahar Group of Companies has been championing the cause of Make in India much before it gained momentum. The conglomerate has been working in the textiles space in the country since 1949 and generating employment & revenue for the exchequer under the umbrella brand of "Oswal Woollen Mills". In 2011, the Group looked to diversify into another fast-growing segment, laying the foundation for Nahar Poly Films.

In 2011, Nahar Poly Films commenced its Bi-Axially Oriented Polypropylene Films (BOPP FILMS) project operations at Distt. Raisen (near Bhopal) in the State of Madhya Pradesh. Nahar Poly Films has always focused on BOPP Films as a segment and has carved a niche for itself in the market. It is regarded as a leading supplier of a range of standard and speciality films to some of the best-known packaging film manufacturers and food & beverage brands across the globe. The company places high emphasis on quality and customer-centricity. The company's annual BOPP films capacity stands at 60,000 tons per annum. It also provides value-added operations on the base films with its in-house metallization and in-line coating.

Our Packaging films are used by the packaging manufacturers the world over, servicing leading global FMCG brands. Our films are best fit to their requirement as they have better optical properties, superior printability and low sealing temperature. They also have high hot tack, low COF and stable COF which are necessary for premium quality packaging application. These films are mostly used for snack, food and biscuits packaging, tobacco overwrapping, disposables and raffia bags.

Our Specific Application Films find their usage according to the industry being served. These films are offered as ready-to-use industrial films for a specific set of applications such as adhesive tapes, textile bags, release films for plywood, anti-fogging films, white-label films, etc.

Labels play a crucial role in establishing a brand. They serve as an identity, create brand value and distinguish the company's product from the competition. Our Label Films offer complete information legibility when used on constricted surface areas. Our transparent label films offer the trendy 'no label look.' The metallized labels add to the visual and shelf appeal of the package. Films are mostly used for wrap around labelling around PET bottles, PSA labelling for personal care products and IML labelling.

Lamination provides protection and longevity to the printed surfaces. Our lamination films mostly find their usage in not only print publishing and graphic art film segments but also in rendering beautiful textures and premium tactile feel to luxury packages. Our films are mostly used for lamination of books, graphic arts industry, and coffee table books.
